

Entel Summit 2010
Jack Dorsey, Co-founder of Twitter

July 14, 2010
"Espacio Riesco" Convention Center, Santiago

Jack Dorsey, creator and co-founder of Twitter, was the leading speaker at Entel Summit 2010, organized by Entel, Chile's top communications company.

During his talk, Dorsey explained how technologies such as Twitter evolve, which are causing a cultural change that compels companies to get ready to face a more demanding and connected consumer.

MundoChile, with its interpreters, simultaneously translated this important technological event for all of the guests attending it.

The link-up for the interpretation conducted by MundoChile during the meetings and the press conferences given by Jack Dorsey during his stay in our country, was also highly important during this event.

