

Mining investment summit in Latin America
Mining Cumbre 2017

July 11 and 12 | Sheraton Hotel, Santiago, Chile

Mining Cumbre brought the Latin American mining community everything that made the Mining Indaba mining conference an event of unique importance for over 20 years. This event gathered mining corporations seeking investment, investors that look to enter into agreements and governmental secretaries, who invite both groups to discuss new projects in their countries.

Most of the participants are private and institutional capital investors, mining companies, financiers and governments, so that the main focus of attention of the summit is the investment in the mining sector.

Companies of all sizes participated in the summit: from large corporations to medium-sized production companies and small companies in the exploration sector.

Sustainability was the primary issue addressed in the round tables formed of ministers in the Ministerial Summit, as well as in meetings to establish constructive dialogs with NGOs.

MundoChile's professional simultaneous interpreters supported the development of the conferences in this important gathering in the English and Spanish combinations.
